Title: The Function of nominal vector of tracer

Abstract: Being nominal vector DN to be introduced in tracer scanning on object surface, the tracer can successive and Self-adjusting scanning speed according to the curvature of the path and contact level between stylus and model. The technical activities and experimental results show that is a novel way to retain tracer on object surface especially from horizontal plane to the vertical plane.